HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "Horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "Vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted, and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions, are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true.

And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high baked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. And only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.

Seven Eventful Days in the Magalloway Region

FISHING, SIGHT-SEEING, BOATING AND ENTANGLEMENTS WITH THE FISH AND GAME LAWS

We recently visited Flint's Camps up the Magalloway. Stopped seven nights and seven days and got more than seven fish. Had thrills and adventures for which good money was paid. Fell into the legal clutches of Two-Gun-Benson, warden, who wears a broad-brimmed hat and rides a black horse in the wilderness.

The camps were reached on the evening of July 26, after an uneventful journey through Grafton Notch where all have gone except the road and scenery. One house is occupied and possibly another. The road is in good shape. Most of the buildings have been torn down and fields of grass wave in the sunlight. Deserted, going back to the wilderness. The marble slabs in a much neglected burial ground tell of those who once tilled the soil and called this home.

A lunch was had at Mrs. Arnsault's Bear River Tea Room, Newry Corner, and a call made on Harvey S. Hastings, 80 years old, August 1921. He is making good recovery from a mix-up with an unruly calf some weeks ago.

We wanted to use the telephone, but were unable to get the message through. Had tried in Bethel, at the Citizen office with a similar result. Berlin, N. H. was the extent of the reach, nothing doing about the Errol land office. Upton Hill is at the height of land south of Upton Lake. It overlooks a good portion of the water. Enoch Abbott has a hotel with an excellent view and sets a good table. Takes a man's good recovery from a mix-up with an unruly calf some weeks ago.

C. A. Judkins' telephone told us that some one had mislaid a note and knocked down a telephone pole in Upton, N. H., and the wires were under water, hence useless. Our message waited.

Mr. Judkins gave us a calendar, "Telling the days of the year" and showing a photographic view of Upton Lake and B. Point. Also incidentally points the way to his store and speaks of lots for sale at reasonable prices. Upton is one of the many beauty spots of Maine. Upton has a wealth of scenery and is close to trout, salmon and pickerel fishing. As good as any in the State.

On the western side of the road, before crossing the bridge into Errol, is the home of drawn and hand-branded rugs. All kinds, sizes, colors and patterns. Prices reasonable.

The gas tank was filled at West's Garage, Errol, N. H., and we endeavored to get word to Capt. Ted Hewey at the big dam, of our coming, and found that even the Magalloway line was not working. It "died" at 10:30 in the forenoon. Cause was not stated, but probably from the effects of a fallen tree.

The road to the Big Dam, Aziscoos Lake, is high on perfection, some 18 miles. We got there at 8 o'clock and waited 3 hours and 35 minutes for the leaving of the boat. The passengers came straggling along for that length of time. The last to arrive was an insurance inspector and wife, who said the delay was due to changing a tire. The Falls of Canada, Inn and are inspecting all the camps in Oxford County that carry insurance. There are several hundred of them, we were told. A lumber operator and helper from Berlin, N. H., were waiting to go up the lake when we arrived. Harry Carter, one of the Brown Company's surveyors and helper, soon joined the party. They were off for a motor cruise in the woods near the Canadian border.

Two dollars a passenger each way is the price for the 12 mile ride. The Hewey family of Andover, Maine, has operated the boat since John Hewey quit being caretaker at Camp Caribou some years ago. It probably pays a fair return for labor and investment. The boat is in good shape and well managed in an extremely difficult lake to navigate. There are stumps and dri-k everywhere and where the boat is out of the old river channel, unseen sand bars and sunken rocks must be encountered.

The Aziscoos fleet is numerous. George Nason, of Nason's Camps, has the largest, and probably fastest, boat. The day we went up his big boat was making over a score up the lake on which was an automobile and a black horse. Bucknam, Flint, Cameron, Bennett, Hart and many others have sizable motor boats. There is no end to "kickers" on small boats and canoes.

We were told that the trout were coming to the fly fairly well, but the small flow of water in the brook did not bring up as many big fish as usual. Less running water and less fish.

We found there was a scarcity of big fish. Considerably less than in years past and feel the reason of it is as above stated. Small trout are numerous. More than we have ever seen in the past.

We caught, during our stay, 34 trout and 23 chubs. The largest trout, the only one we killed, weighed less than a pound. Six and a half gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil were used in fly casting. 37 hours devoted to fly casting.

No big fish as yet have been taken in the Little Magalloway. Red and Hamill Brooks were where we got 31 of the 34

The Girls' Club have got a nicely arranged club room in a part of Cedric Judkins' store house, which they will occupy for an unlimited time.

Upton Grange, Mrs. Bertha Judkins, master, are improving their hall by a new cement foundation, and will make a hall on the lower floor for a public hall. They will also build an addition comprising a stage and dressing rooms. Good for Upton Grange!

Peaslee and Brown have begun sawing long lumber.

Ellen Abbott is home on a vacation at her home; she has a fine office position in New York.

Mrs. Josephine West and daughter, of trout. Big brook yielded one and Mead-

George Nason, of Westbrook, some years ago, married Will Hart's daughter and had charge as caretaker of the Camp-in the Magalloway for the Paramachee Club. On the flowing out of the river he bought the camps and moved them to the east side of the lake and started in as a public sporting camp keeper. This was some 17 years ago. The camps are on public lands (owned by the State) which has been sold or leased to the Brown Company. The camps are ample to accommodate 30 people. We inspected them on this trip and are much pleased with location and the layout.

They are handy to the fishing and hunting. There are two independent log cabins with rustic design as well as the big house. On the shore we noticed an angle pine log that is only a few inches less than 30 feet long, with top measurement of 13 inches. Had it not been "windy," it would have made a good mast. Roger Nason has a new motor boat about ready to be launched.

We visited Twin Brook twice, got no fish, but on our last trip got arrested as arrived unbeknown to us a few hours before we did. We make no excuses and found no fault. The officer, Dallas Benson, of Oxford, did his duty and did it in a friendly way. We were very sorry the terms proposed by trial Justice H. W.

Fickett of Magalloway. He imposed a ten dollar fine and remitted payment. The cost of court and officer, $7.50, was paid.

Flint's Camps were well filled during our stay. Parties arriving and leaving among those we met was Col. Alexander Powell, author, who served the New York World as War Correspondent during the late unpleasantness between the nations of the world. He and his wife are stopping in Lisbon, N. H., and he came over to get some fish. He was unsuccessful, though an expert with rod and line.

Roger Babson of Wellesley Hills, Mass., who has won wealth and fame in forecasting the fluctuation of the financial market, was here. He came from Ben Brown's Kewaukeo camps. He was not here to fish. Didn't care for it. He was born and brought up in Gloucester, Mass., and had enough fishing in his youth to last a life time. He was here to try and interest Perley Flint in a Florida special venture. Whether he succeeded, we know not.

Mrs. Miller and son, Dick, of Wellesley Hills were here both are greatly interested in Maine game and previous stone as found in Oxford County. The son is a pupil of Miss Edith Rideout, formerly of Norway, as is her mother, Mrs. B. S. Rideout, who, after the passing of her husband, Rev. B. S. Rideout, was assistant in the Norway Savings Bank until she went to Massachusetts to be with her daughter.

Maurice S. Sherman, wife and daughter, and ex-mayor A. A. Adams, with wife and one daughter of Springfield, Mass., closed a three weeks auto journey to Niagara Falls and Canada, with a six days stop here. They got some fish, but no "coarse ones" as they had hoped.

Mr. Sherman is editor of the Springfield Union and has been for many years. The two editions of the Union are in excess of sixty thousand copies daily.

SANBORN'S SPECIAL COLUMN

Because I got "pulled" for fishing where I shouldn't, delights some of our readers so much they express themselves to wit:

George Tripp: "Glad it served you right! No business to be fishing all the time. Better stay at home and work."

Harry Shorey of the Bridgton News: "Could you have fixed it without pulling? Guess you could if you tried."

Malcolm Gregg, Norway and Andover: "Nothing to it! Just a publicity stunt! Done on purpose so as to get your name in the papers."

Edmund Little, President of the People's National Bank of Lacombe, N. H., clips the story as appeared in the Boston Herald and adds:

"He laughs best who laughs last."

Hereby hangs a story of many years ago, when, by request, we omitted to print the news of his arrest and fine for thoughtlessly riding a high-wheeled bike on the sidewalk of a Massachusetts suburban city.

Hon. F. W. Gaston, lawyer and politician of Passaic, N. J., says: "Your predicament naturally calls for legal aid, which I am always ready and willing to donate in matters of this kind. Especially in the situation appealed to me, in view of the fact that the culprit is a fellow fisherman. If I can in any way mitigate your mental anguish, I shall be only too glad to tender my service."

Paul Shorey, with his becoming dignity for all Maine Publicity, wants to know if the fish were biting. He also expresses grief and condolence.

George F. Huff of the Gazette Publishing Company of Dexter extends sympathy and falls into poetry, viz.:

"Better to have fished and paid than never to have fished at all. Benson did and seemed pleased. Excessively so, too."

Maurice Sherman, editor of the Springfield, Mass., Union, passes a compliment to our news service, thusly:

"Your Wilson's Mills correspondent handled the dire calamity that befell you at Twin Brook with entire candor and without belittling diplomacy."

He winds up with this excellent modern advice: "Let this be a warning to you to lead hereafter an upright life with a weather eye constantly out for all minions of the law."

George Witt, of Dorchester, Mass., a life-long subscriber, in remitting for his paper, closes as follows:

"For a long time I have been congratulating you for the crime which you openly confessed to have committed."

Charlie Jenness, over to Rochester, N. H., newspaper fellow, stops his chase for the possession of the Almighty Dollar long enough to mail a Wildcat poem explanatory, soothing and appropriate for the occasion and situation. Also got another copy of identically the same thing, mailed at Norway and marked "Jim."

Don Setts of New York, by grapevine here: "Did they take your finger prints when you got plucked?"

Thanks for all. The curtain drops.

Maine Three-Quarter Century Club

If you are a resident of Maine and if you are seventy-five years of age or older, you are invited to participate in an effort which is being made this month by the Maine Three-Quarter Century Club to bring to light additional bits of Maine tradition and Maine history.

Admiral W. W. Kimball of Paris Hill, President of the Three-Quarter Century Club, has announced a contest open to all residents of Maine who have lived seventy-five years or more. All historical sketches or bits of tradition will be submitted by the club.

A sketch, narrative or descriptive, of life in a Maine town three-quarters of a century ago, in order to properly classify the material sent in, the committee requests that each writer use one of the above headings at the top of the manuscript to be submitted. More than one entry may be made under each classification if the writer so desires. Each manuscript must not exceed 1,000 words. Prizes will be awarded the most interesting or best manuscript submitted in each classification and the writer of each manuscript—whether it receives a prize or not, will be awarded a special certificate. Admiral Kimball will announce the members of a committee to receive and to judge the manuscripts which must reach the committee on or before August 25 so that the names of the winners may be announced at the time of the annual meeting of the club in Augusta on August 30th. With approximately 20,000 residents of Maine not over the age of 75 years—and 15,000 of which are listed as charter members of the Three-Quarter Century Club, it is believed that hundreds of interesting bits of Maine history and tradition will be brought to light as the result of this contest.
